Guillaume Leleu

Guillaume Leleu, a writer, is fascinated by this beverage that he discovers through the writing. Over time, tea takes a more and more important role in his life; he is interested in its history, its culture, perfects the art of tasting and gets tea master. An in his eyes unacceptable observation pushes him to establish his own tea-house: „he detects that the flavoured teas, that are available on the market, do not meet the requirements, since they are often made of low quality tea and artificial flavourings". In order to change this negative image of flavoured teas, he decides in 2002 to open his first shop in Paris, in the 16th arrondissement.

A suitable name is quickly found, namely: Maison Theodor, in memory of the house with the same name that was located at exactly the same place in the 19th century.

A company of excellence

The selection process is entirely supervised by Guillaume Leleu, tea taster and ultimate guarantor for the quality. The company is directly supplied by the best gardens of the world, with a multitude of exclusive contracts and therefore without detours via negotiations or the cooperative. This is also based on the current harvest season, which is a sign for the quality and freshness.
